

The Clinton Crime Family is Angry

Well, this can't be good. The Clinton Crime Family is on the warpath, my friends.

The recently released book about the failed Clinton Campaign contains information only someone from inside the Clinton Crime Family would know.

And you know what that means.

Someone in the Family sang like a canary.

Do they not know the meaning of Omertà -- that time-honored Mafia code of silence?

According to the New York Post, the Clinton Crime Family is busy beating the bushes to see who in the Organization is talking. There is a witch hunt underway among Clinton's presidential campaign staffers after the release of the autopsy book, Shattered: Inside Hillary Clinton's Doomed Campaign by journalists Jonathan Allen and Amie Parnes.

We're told the details in the book, which depicts the campaign as inept, could only have come from someone in the inner circle. Dennis Cheng, the finance director of Clinton's presidential campaign, has been sending out messages to determine where the leaks came from.

Uh-oh Spaghettio!

One source said, "The knives are out to find the people who spoke about the campaign to the authors of this book. Dennis has been texting prominent campaign staffers, asking who talked. He's on a witch hunt to find out who talked to save their own skin, throwing Hillary and her campaign manager Robby Mook under the bus."

As Michael Corleone famously told his brother Fredo:

Now, some believe the leaker is Huma Abedin.

But with Huma trying to shop a tell-all in exchange for a cool two mill, I have my doubts that she's the one who broke Omertà.

Of course others within the Clinton Crime Family are dismissing the book's revealing tidbits altogether.

A rep for Clinton said, "It was our campaign. We lived it. So we don't need a book to know what really happened, and what's in there that's flat-out made up."

Yes, when all else fail, just say they're lies.

They used the same defense against the Podesta emails if I'm not mistaken.

But whoever the leaker is, he or she would be wise to avoid taking a ride with Clemenza.
