

Karma's a bitch, Ferret Face

Uh-oh. It looks like Ferret Face Adam Schiff ? that rodent of a Democrat Congressmen ? is about to learn the lesson that Karma's a bitch.

After Democrat ?dark money groups? ? to use their favorite phrase ? launched an effort to undermine Devin Nunes for trumped up ?ethics violations,? it shouldn't be a surprise to learn that two can play at that game.

Friday Judicial Watch sent a hand-delivered letter to the House Ethics Committee calling for an investigation into Schiff and his colleague Jackie Speier (D-CA).

Judicial Watch is claiming Schiff and Speier disclosed to the public that the leaked information about Mike Flynn was indeed classified.

Schiff, the Ranking Member of the House Intelligence Committee, openly discussed the contents of the classified intercept between Flynn and the Russian Ambassador during a speech at the Brookings Institute in March. And by doing so, Schiff confirmed that the information leaked to the media was, in fact, classified information.

Speier then did the same thing in early April.

And that's a big no-no.

As James Comey pointed out in the public hearing conducted by the House Intelligence Committee on March 21, you can't confirm if leaked information is classified. Yet that is exactly what both Schiff and Speier did.

And Ferret Face shouldn't have been talking about what was discussed in that classified intercept, PERIOD.

No wonder the guy doesn't want Congress to investigate the leaks.

I'm guessing Ferret Face is a World-Class Leaker.

He probably leaks like a sieve.

And no wonder Nunes was reticent to share with Schiff the intelligence he received last month. Nunes probably knew if he shared it with Schiff, everything ? including the name of the anonymous whistleblower ? would have been in the newspapers the very next day.

But Judicial Watch isn't the first to file an ethics complaint against Schiff over his partisan grandstanding.

Earlier this month, FreedomWatch lodged a complaint as well.

Unlike Judicial Watch, FreedomWatch is more focused on Schiff's obstruction into the illegal surveillance carried out by the Obama Administration.

Well, of course he's obstructing that. He's a Democrat and the illegal surveillance was done by a Democrat.

And let's face it. The Democrats have a long history of putting party ahead of the law, the Constitution and the country.

So it really isn't a surprise to me that old Ferret Face Schiff is an underhanded little rodent who plays fast and loose with the rule of law.

I'll be honest with you. I don't like Adam Schiff. He's like the Frank Burns of the House of Representatives.

He's a weasel and a creep, and about as trustworthy as a used car salesman.

Of course the difference between Schiff and Nunes will become painfully obvious in due time.

Because unlike Nunes who stepped aside while the Ethics Committee investigated him, Schiff won't budge.

Trust me. He'll never budge.

You know it. I know it.

Because even when they're caught red-handed, Democrats never relinquish control.
