

Trump supporters drop Mother of All Based-Sticks on Berkeley

Yesterday, Trump supporters decided to hold a pro-Trump rally in Berkeley of all places.

Now that takes some serious cajones.

I'm sure they chose this location knowing they would be met with the full force and might of Antifa -- those Sunken-Chested Beta Males and Assata-Wannabes dressed in black.

As expected, Antifa showed up dressed in their costumes and armed with pepper spray, M-80s and bricks.

No doubt they thought they'd have the upper hand.

After all, during the Berkeley riots in February, the police were ordered to stand down while Antifa attacked innocent people and beat them to a pulp.

But this time, it was different.

Trump supporters fought back. And when Antifa was met with force, they ran away.

As far as domestic terror groups go, Antifa may try to look the part. But they aren't nearly as terrifying as they think they are.

Yes, they are a domestic terror group. They use violence to obtain a political objective. And isn't that the textbook definition of terrorism?

But terror only works when those you seek to terrorize are cowed into submission.

You know, like how Obama was cowed into submission for eight years.

And just like dropping the MOAB in Afghanistan reset the rules and let ISIS know America will no longer be cowed, Trump supporters dropped a MOAB of their own in Berkeley.

Call it the Mother of All Based-Sticks.

As I monitored the events in Berkeley yesterday afternoon, I was struck by what a paper tiger this Antifa movement really is.

They are like a Potemkin village ? nothing more than phony revolutionaries in their black-clad façades.

Just how tough can these Beta boys be if all it takes to subdue them is a wedgie?

I can't say as I blame these rally-goers for wanting to take the fight to Antifa.

For more than year now, Trump supporters have been harassed and attacked by these Internet Café Revolutionaries.

And there's something Schadenfreuderiffic about watching while they get the snot beaten out of them.

We're getting sick and tired of this petulant platoon of pretend soldiers -- playing dress-up while sucker-punching women and pepper-spraying the elderly.

Sucker-punching people just isn't as fun when Based Stickman comes in and beats you silly for doing it.

I think one of the reasons Donald Trump won the presidency is because of morons like Antifa, Black Lives Matter and other Tissue Terrorist groups. Their short-sighted mission to incite violence at Trump events did more to rally people to Donald Trump than any ad campaign ever could.

Americans don't like bullies.

We never have.

And when the bullies get what they so richly deserve, it's hard not to cheer.

Especially when we witness these faux revolutionaries running away like the cowards they are.
